Summary: Akito, Estelle, Vincent, Felicity, and Kelly are on their way to sleepaway camp for the first time. However, Kelly and Estelle are feeling the homesick blues and Barbie tries to cheer them up by telling them the story of Swan Lake, which is also one of Estelle's favorite ballets.

1. Chapter 1

Mo was going over a list of things as Angel stood next to her feet while she stood inside Akito and Estelle's shared bedroom. The twins were throwing things into suitcases as her mother listed the items.

"What's going on?" Angel asked.

"You haven't heard?" Mo smiled proudly. "The kids are going to sleepaway camp!"

"Sleepaway camp?" Angel asked.

"Sleepaway camp is where kids go and stay away from home for a couple of weeks during the summer," Mo explained. "I went with Cherry and Atticus at one point when Mystery Inc decided to be volunteer camp counselors."

"Oh, yeah, wasn't that Camp Little Moose?" Angel asked.

"That's right..." Mo nodded. "Though, hopefully what happened there doesn't happen again with Akito, Estelle, and Vincent."

"I'm sure it won't," Angel soothed. "Besides, that guy's long gone and in jail, remember?" she then reminded.

"Yeah..." Mo sighed, then looked back to Akito and Estelle with a smile. "Remember, you can always call home if you guys feel homesick, but don't stay on the phone too long, there'll be other campers wanting to use the phone."

"We know, Mom." Akito said.

"I'm sure homesickness won't be too much for them," Angel comforted. "They're stronger than they look."

Mo sighed with a proud smile. "I know... Okay, now back to the list..." she then took out her list again, then remembered. "Oh! Before I forget, Barbie's going to come tomorrow to pick you guys up," she then said to them. "It'll be Kelly's first time at summer camp too."

"Yay!" Estelle cheered.

Vincent poked his head in. "We're going with Barbie?"

"Yeah, I hope that's okay," Mo smiled back to her eldest. "I promise though, on the ride back home, your father and I will bring you back home and we'll have whatever you all want for dinner tonight."

Akito, Estelle, and Vincent smiled to that.

"I just have this strong feeling that we're in for two adventures during camp." Estelle smiled as she danced.

Mo smiled to her daughter's dancing as she already knew what her children would want for dinner and went to the kitchen.

"I wonder what they are then." Vincent said as he packed up some art supplies since the camp had an Arts and Crafts department and he was itching to visit it.

"I hope they have some challenging activities there." Akito smiled.

"I hope there's a talent show..." Estelle said. "I'd love to show my ballet, I've really come along since Barbie became my teacher."

"You sure have." Akito smiled.

"Proud of ya, Sis." Vincent added.

Estelle smiled bashfully to them.

>Mo sighed as she cooked dinner. "The kids are going to summer camp... They've grown up so fast..."

"Don't worry, Mo, they're not gone forever." Angel soothed her mistress since puppyhood.

"I know, I'm just going to miss them so much." Mo frowned.

"Aw, Mo..." Angel said.

Mo bent down and hugged her dog with a small tear rolling down her cheek.

Angel saw someone sneaking up on her mistress and smiled, happy to know who it was. "Back to cooking now." she then grinned eagerly.

Mo nodded, she then wiped her eyes and stood back up and turned her back as she went back to cooking. Angel chuckled and decided to leave the kitchen to give the two some privacy. Before she could even get close to the oven, Mo's eyes got covered by a familiar strong figure.

"Guess who?" A strong voice said.

"Oh, gee, who on Earth could it be?" Mo asked with a small smirk.

"Only the strongest man in the universe." Atticus answered her before uncovering her eyes and then lifting her up as they kissed.

Mo squealed and then happily kissed her husband. Angel smirked to them as she caught one last view before lying next to Scamp on the living room floor.

"How are you holding up?" Atticus asked his wife, referring to their kids going to summer camp.

"I'm going to miss them..." Mo pouted slightly.

"I know, I am too." Atticus said.

"Maybe we should wait until they're a little older..." Mo rubbed her arm.

"Mo, this will be good for them," Atticus gently put his hand on her shoulders. "Besides, Felicity and Kelly will be there with them. They'll have loads of fun!"

"Well, okay, if you're sure." Mo said.

"Besides, who knows, maybe they'll make new friends or maybe even get a new Pokemon?" Atticus smiled.

"This isn't Professor Oak's Pokemon camp though..." Mo said.

"Yeah, but you never know..." Atticus shrugged with a reassuring smile. "This'll be a good thing... Try not to worry about them so much, you'll make yourself sick."

Mo sighed, rubbing her eyes. "All right... I better get to cooking."

"Here, I'll help." Atticus smirked.

"Okay, but be careful with that special strength of yours." Mo said.

"I'm always careful." Atticus said.

Mo smirked to him.

Atticus grinned sheepishly. "Erm... Let me just help..."

"Mm-hmm..." Mo chuckled as she started to cook dinner with his help.

>"I wonder if Kelly is as excited as we are..." Akito said after he was packing up a couple of weights.

"I'm sure she is, but Akito, why are you packing your weights?" Estelle asked.

"Gotta keep myself busy sometimes in the cabin..." Akito said. "No TV and no computers."

"Why don't you read a book?" Vincent smirked.

"I've read every book twice!" Akito exclaimed.

"Oh, well, then I guess exercise and weight-lifting can be one way of keeping yourself from being bored." Vincent said.

"It's a strong thing, y'all wouldn't understand..." Akito smiled jokingly cocky.

Estelle and Vincent rolled their eyes, but smiled to him as they continued to pack everything they could. After finishing up with their packing, the Fudo siblings went downstairs to the kitchen with Snow White.

>"Ya sleep good, girl?" Vincent asked.

"Always." Snow White purred.

"Is that the only thing you're good at?" Akito asked.

Snow White slightly glared.

"Okay, what else do you do then, Cat?" Akito folded his arms with a smirk.

"I also can blend in with snow." Snow White told him.

"That's good... If you're a wild animal..." Vincent commented.

"Here we go again, judge, judge, judge..." Snow White muttered.

"Wait, again?" Estelle asked.

"It's just an expression..." Snow White face-pawed.

"Ohh, right." Estelle smiled sheepishly.

Snow White sighed to her.

"What's for dinner, Mom and Dad?" Akito asked.

"Your favorites," Mo smiled. "It'll be ready in 25 minutes."

"Yay!" The Fudo siblings cheered.

Mo and Atticus smiled as they continued to cook for their children as their last family dinner for a while.

"So, what's your favorite dinner?" Snow White asked the Fudo siblings.

"Steak with broccoli." Akito smiled.

"Really? You kids are strange then, because most kids don't like broccoli." Snow White said.

"Oh, no, broccoli's good for you, it makes you strong." Vincent said.

"Impressive..." Snow White shrugged.

"So, 25 minutes, what do you guys wanna do to pass the time?" Akito asked.

"I think I'm gonna call Kelly." Estelle said.

"Okay, I'm gonna do some reading." Vincent said.

"I might as well do some weight-lifting." Akito said.

Atticus and Mo smiled about how well their kids got along, then continued to cook while they did their individual activities.

>Estelle dialed the number to the Roberts house and held the phone close. "Hello, this is Estelle, may I speak to Kelly, please?" she then requested after someone had answered the phone and asked who was calling.

_"Hello, this the Roberts residence, Kelly Roberts speaking."_
Kelly smiled.

"Hey, Kelly!" Estelle beamed.

"Hey, Estelle!" Kelly replied. _"What's up?"_

"Oh, nothing much," Estelle smiled. "Just finishing packing up for the best time of our lives starting tomorrow!"

"Oh... Right..." Kelly replied, sounding soft all of the sudden.

"Kelly, what's wrong?" Estelle asked. "Aren't you excited?"

_"Oh, yeah, I am..."_ Kelly said, sounding like she was trying to convince even herself.

"Kelly..." Estelle sensed that.

"I'm a little nervous..." Kelly then admitted, deciding to let Estelle know since they were very good friends after all. _"Wh-What if I miss Mom, Dad, and Barbie too much and I wanna go home?"_

"Don't worry, you won't be alone at camp," Estelle smiled. "Me and Akito and Vincent and Felicity will be there too."

"That's true..." Kelly said then.

"I promise, Kelly, summer camp will be a great experience for us, plus we're not gone forever..." Estelle gently reminded.

Kelly smiled, she was glad to know that she would have friends there with her. _"Thanks, Estelle..."_ she then said with a smile.

"No problem, just remember that we're all here for you." Estelle soothed.

_"I will..."_ Kelly smiled.

Estelle smiled. The girls then switched topics until dinner was ready. Once dinner was ready, Estelle hung up first and the family sat down together as tomorrow was a big day.

>"Hey, Akito, how's about after dinner, you and me do a little wrestling?" Atticus asked his youngest and strongest son.

"Really, Dad?" Akito grinned eagerly.

"Yeah, I did with your Grandpa Patrick all the time after I gave him strength when we went to Hollywood with your Aunt Darla," Atticus insisted. "Might be nice to see how strong you've gotten after eating your broccoli." he then added the last bit as slight teasing.

"Oh, you're on, old man." Akito teased back.

"An old man, am I?" Atticus smirked darkly. "We'll just see about that!"

"Kids, you might wanna grab everything breakable, this match seems like it might be a doozy." Mo said.

Estelle and Vincent nodded as they ate their dinner.

2. Chapter 2

After they all ate their dinner, Mo, Estelle, Vincent, Patch, Colette, Scamp, Angel, and Snow White grabbed onto every breakable thing they could get just so then they wouldn't break during Atticus's and Akito's match.

"You guys about done?!" Akito called.

"Almost!" Mo called. "Gotta get Grandma Elizabeth's china!"

"Okay!" Akito called before getting his body ready for the match by warming up.

Atticus followed suit. The others moved everything out of the way for Akito and Atticus's father-son match before bedtime.

"You ready to do this, son?" Atticus asked.

"I was born ready, unlike you." Akito smirked.

"Oh, no, you didn't!" Atticus laughed.

"Oh, yes, I did." Akito chuckled.

"Oh, you're in for it now." Atticus smirked.

Akito grinned eagerly.

"Okay, you guys can start now!" Mo called out.

Akito and Atticus nodded, then they started. The two of them started to wrestle, shaking the whole place around them. Mo sighed, but she relaxed in the backyard. Her relaxation wasn't long as the shaking continued with each contact her husband or strongest son made on the ground. Snow White groaned, unable to get back to sleep. The match went on for a while, until finally in the end, Atticus seem to be the one on top.

"How's that?" Atticus laughed with his younger son.

"Dang, it looks like I still got years to beat you, Dad." Akito said.

"I tried to warn you," Atticus said, but smiled. "Not bad though, I bet you'll be a sports star when you grow up."

"Nah, I wanna be a detective just like you." Akito smiled back.

This made Atticus smile, feeling touched that his own son wanted to follow in his own foot-steps.

Akito smiled back, knowing that made his dad happy. "Dad?"

"Mm-hmm?" Atticus looked back.

"We're pals, right?" Akito asked.

"You know it." Atticus chuckled.

"We'll always be together, right?" Akito then asked.

Atticus smiled, that made him think of when Simba asked Mufasa as a cub, then he frowned slightly.

"Dad?" Akito frowned when his dad frowned.

"Huh? Oh, sorry, Akito it's just that that's the same thing Simba asked his father the night before his father's death." Atticus told him.

"Oh, yeah..." Akito remembered that story, then pouted. "Dad... Please don't die."

"Don't worry, Akito, that's not happening for a long time." Atticus assured his son.

"Promise?" Akito asked with a small smile.

"I promise," Atticus said before linking his pinky onto Akito's. "Cross my heart, hope to fly, stick a cupcake in my eye."

Akito giggled to that as he linked pinkies with his father and it was then set. "And Dad?" he then asked.

"Yeah, son?" Atticus asked before getting pulled down to the ground slightly. "Whoa!"

Akito smirked with a laugh. Atticus laughed with him as the two had more fun. The Fudo family outside sighed as Akito and Atticus were up to their antics.

>Eventually, it was bedtime for 'those under ten'. Vincent was told to go to bed early too and the quicker they would go to sleep, the faster they would be to their funnest time ever with Kelly and Felicity. Estelle instantly went to sleep, wanting the next day to come.

Akito slept okay here and there, he pulled down his bandanna, covering his eyes as he went to sleep too. Atticus and Mo then decided to get sleep of their own, cooking a big dinner for the family was rather exhausting, plus Atticus had been in the office all day while Mo did housework. Luckily, everyone slept peacefully and it was time for breakfast, Mo hugged her children extra tight since Barbie would be taking them to camp.

>"Mom, we won't be gone that long." Akito told her.

"I'm just going to miss you..." Mo cooed as she hugged all three of her children at once. "Remember, you can call me if you feel homesick."

"We'll be sure to call you if we ever feel homesick, Mom." Estelle told her.

"Yeah... We'll be fine..." Vincent wheezed. "Though we might not make it to summer camp if you hug us that tight!"

"Oh, sorry." Mo let go of her kids.

Akito, Estelle, and Vincent then gasped for air and breathed in relief once their mother let them go. Atticus was moving the kids' bags outside of the house so they could load up when Barbie and Kelly would arrive.

"Looks like someone got to pack up all his weights as well as his clothes." Atticus said, giving his strongest son the knowing

Akito smiled bashfully and cheekily. Atticus chuckled as he set the bags down with the others.

>The family sat down to a quick breakfast. Every time she had the chance, Estelle kept staring out the window, expecting Barbie's car to suddenly ride up any minute now.

"Estelle, calm down, Barbie will be here when she gets here." Mo assured her daughter.

"Okay..." Estelle sighed, then sat down until she heard something pass the house. "BARBIE!" she then ran out the door and sighed, coming back inside. "It's just a bus..."

"Akito, you might need to hold on to your sister so she doesn't keep running to the door." Atticus said.

"Yep." Akito agreed, already knowing where this was going.

Estelle sat down and was about to finish eating, then looked concerned. "Did you hear that?"

"Estelle..." Mo groaned slightly. "You sit there and eat, Barbie shouldn't be here for another little while!"

"You're right, you're right." Estelle said, trying to calm herself down.

The family chuckled and finished their breakfast. Soon enough, they heard the sound of a car horn. The kids gasped in utter delight and raced outside to see Barbie riding up to their driveway.

>"Wahoo!" Estelle cheered.

Barbie smiled to them and stopped the car, coming out with her younger sister.

"Kelly!" Estelle called.

"Estelle!" Kelly called back.

The two girls hugged each other and gave sophisticated kisses on the cheeks to each other.

"What's with the sophisticated kisses?" Akito asked.

"Good manners." Estelle smiled cheekily.

"Looks like you guys are ready to become real happy campers." Barbie smiled to them.

"Yep, we sure are." Estelle smiled, patting her Pokeballs on her Pokeball belt.

"All right, let's load up then." Barbie said.

The kids happily and eagerly loaded their bags up and were getting in the back-seat, then opened the door to see someone already sitting there.

"Bonsoir, cousines!" Felicity greeted with a small wave.

"Hi, Felicity." Estelle smiled.

Akito, Estelle, and Vincent dog-piled Felicity playfully and hugged her. Felicity screamed at first, but then fell into a fit of giggles as she was playing with them now.

"So, how's Misdreavus been?" Vincent asked.

"She is different now..." Felicity said.

The others looked curious.

"How different?" Estelle asked.

"She is a different color," Felicity explained the best she could. "I found this odd stone and thought it would be a nice gift for her and she just... Suddenly changed..."

"Wait, did she first start to glow when she touched it?" Akito asked with a knowing smile.

"Oui, then she just... Kind of changed..." Felicity said, not sure how to explain it. "Oh, you just had to be there... She is not ill, but... She's different."

"Do you have her with you?" Estelle asked.

"Oui, but in her Pokeball." Felicity said.

"Could we see her?" Akito asked. "I think I know what happened?"

"Okay, we will move outside real quick." Felicity replied as Barbie talked with Atticus and Mo.

>The kids then moved out in a space together, Felicity then threw her Pokeball containing her ghost Pokemon to show how much she had changed based on the descriptions she gave to the twins who were growing Pokemon experts.

"Okay, Misdreavus, come out and show how much you've changed." Felicity said, tossing out the ghost Pokemon's Pokeball to let it out.

A glow appeared in front of the cousins and showed the ghost Pokemon. Misdreavus was now slightly bigger and had a bigger smile. She appeared to have violet streaks and was in a light gray-green color and her hair seemed wilder and the charm around her neck had expanded with larger ruby spheres.

"Felicity, Misdreavus evolved into a Mismagius!" Akito and Estelle smiled.

"Misma...What...?" Felicity asked.

"You gave Misdreavus a stone, right?" Estelle asked.

"Oui..." Felicity asked. "I have never found anything like it before... It was like a rock, but was very shiny like a gem and was dark as dusk before evening in the night time."

"You must have found an evolution stone." Akito smiled.

"Evolution stone?" Felicity asked.

Kelly was too astonished by Misdreavus, or rather, Mismagius up close to say or do anything in the conversation and happening before they would go to camp.

"Evolution stones help Pokemon evolve." Estelle said.

"Now, how's about we find out more about her?" Vincent suggested, bringing out his Pokedex.

"Come on... I am sorry, one more time, please?" Felicity said.

"I'm Mismagius now, Felicity." the Ghost Pokemon smiled.

"Mismagius..." Felicity repeated. "Got it," she then came to Vincent's side with the Pokedex. "What does it say?" She then remembered her own Pokedex before her Estelle and Akito brought their own.

"Mismagius, the magical Pokemon, its cries sound like incantations to torment the foe. It appears where you least expect it." Their Pokedexes informed them.

"There you have it," Vincent smiled to their cousin. "Congratulations, Felicity, your Pokemon's evolved."

"Is that another way of saying 'grown up'?" Felicity asked.

"Yes, yes, it is." Estelle smiled.

"Well, Mismagius, you are all grown up." Felicity smiled.

"Not all the way just yet," Estelle said. "According to the Pokedex, there's one more step, but it's very rare."

"Still, congratulations, Felicity, you should be proud." Akito added.

"I am." Felicity smiled.

>Barbie came back out as Atticus and Mo came outside, Mo had a camera in her hand.

"Looks like you gotta do one more thing before we hit the road."
Kelly told her friends once she spotted the camera.

"Yep." Estelle smiled.

Atticus and Mo hugged their kids one last time in one great big family hug.

Mo handed Barbie the camera and stepped back.

"All right, smile!" Barbie smiled as she set the camera to take a family picture of the Fudos.

they came out together.

"That's a keeper." Barbie smiled.

Mo smiled fondly to the photograph. The parents gave their children one last hug and they were off in Barbie's car all together and they drove off. Atticus hugged Mo as she started to cry as soon as they were going away for part of the summer. Kelly was glad to be going with her friends, but as they were driving further and further away from home, she looked a little sad. Estelle saw this and was feeling the same way, but knew that she needed to make Kelly happy.
